To: A Judge of the Superior Court

The undersigned hereby applies for a warrant for the arrest of the above-named accused on the basis of the facts set forth in the: ☒ Affidavit Below. ☐ Affidavit(s) Attached.

Affidavit

The undersigned affiant, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

- 1) That the Affiants, Inspector Robert J. Hughes of the Office of the Chief State's Attorney and Detective Michael Mudry of the Connecticut State Police, have a combined total of 41 years of police training and experience. The affiants have investigated numerous crimes and those investigations have led to the arrest and conviction of persons in the State of Connecticut. At all times mentioned hereinafter the affiants were acting in their capacities as representatives of said Departments. The affiants have personal knowledge of the facts and circumstances hereinafter related as a result of their own investigative efforts, and/or efforts of other Federal, State and/or Municipal agencies, private and public corporations, entities and private citizens. This affidavit does not purport to set forth all of the relevant information learned during the course of the investigation. Rather, the affiants have set forth only those facts that are believed necessary to support the charges cited at the end of this affidavit.
- 2) During the summer of 1984, Mary Edna Badaracco ("Mary" or "Mary Badaracco"), age thirty-eight, was living with her husband, Dominic Badaracco, Sr. ("Dominic Badaracco" or "Badaracco"), at 25 Wakeman Road in Sherman, Connecticut. The marriage had experienced periods of unrest and Mary previously had left Badaracco for short periods of time.
- 3) On August 31, 1984, Mary's adult daughters from a previous marriage reported her missing to the Connecticut State Police after not having been contacted by their mother for several days. Dominic Badaracco told the daughters that the last time he had seen Mary was on August 20th when -- according to him -- she packed all of her belongings and left the residence. Mary's car, a 1982 Chevrolet Cavalier, remained in the driveway of the home; however, it was observed that the driver's side of the windshield had been smashed. Mary Badaracco's daughters had a close relationship with their mother and contend that she would not have left without sharing her plans. Mary Badaracco has not been seen or verifiably heard from since August 1984.

4) In the early stages of the investigation Dominic Badaracco told State Police investigators that Mary Badaracco had stolen money from him before she disappeared. The amount of money that Badaracco claimed to have been stolen varied between $100,000 and $250,000.

5) Divorce proceedings for Mary and Dominic Badaracco took place in August 1985, twelve months after Mary vanished. Mary did not appear at the hearing, nor was she represented. In the complaint for divorce Badaracco alleged that Mary Badaracco "took a substantial amount of money" from Badaracco and left. Badaracco testified that he gave Mary $100,000 in cash and other items, and represented that the separation was amicable.

6) Mary Badaracco's case was upgraded from a missing person case to a homicide in 1990, six years after she disappeared. Despite numerous investigative efforts the homicide remains unsolved.

7) In August 2010, an investigatory grand jury (GJ2010-02) was appointed to investigate the homicide of Mary Badaracco. New Britain was designated as the location of the grand jury investigation. Dominic Badaracco was considered a suspect in the homicide and a possible target of the grand jury.

8) The grand jury began hearing evidence on October 1, 2010 and continued until November 18, 2011.

9) On November 18, 2010, Chief State's Attorney Kevin Kane and Chief Inspector John Edwards spoke with Connecticut Superior Court Judge Robert C. Brunetti ("Judge Brunetti" or "the judge"), who reported that he had received a telephone call from an acquaintance seeking "help" with a grand jury investigation. Judge Brunetti stated that the acquaintance, Dominic Badaracco, offered $100,000 to the judge for his assistance in influencing the grand jury probe.

10) Chief State's Attorney Kane assigned Inspectors Robert Hughes and Jay St. Jacques to investigate the matter. On November 18, 2010, at approximately 4:00 p.m., Inspectors Hughes and St. Jacques met with Judge Brunetti. Judge Brunetti explained that he had befriended Ronald "Rocky" Richter approximately forty-five years ago when they caddied together at a golf course in Danbury. Later, while practicing law, Judge Brunetti represented Richter and his business partner, Dominic Badaracco in legal business matters regarding the operation of their company, Richter & Badaracco Siding Company of Danbury, CT. Through the years Judge Brunetti has maintained a friendly relationship with both men and they occasionally get together to play golf. Judge Brunetti considers Richter a friend and Badaracco an acquaintance. Judge Brunetti is aware that Dominic Badaracco is no longer an active partner in the business and the company is now known as Rocky's Home Improvements. Judge Brunetti initially reported that he last saw Richter about July 2010, but later indicated he might have seen him briefly in August 2010. The judge reported that he hasn't seen Badaracco for approximately five years.

11) Judge Brunetti said that during mid to late September 2010 he received a telephone call from Richter at about 7:30 A.M. Richter asked Judge Brunetti (who was, and still is, sitting at the Bristol court in the New Britain

Judicial District) if he was aware of a grand jury going on in New Britain relative to the Badaracco case. Judge Brunetti said that he was not aware of any grand jury and explained that he generally would not be aware of such a proceeding. Judge Brunetti believes, but is not certain, that Richter called him again with the same inquiry approximately a week later. Judge Brunetti again told Richter that he had not heard anything about a grand jury taking place in New Britain.

12) Judge Brunetti stated that on what he believed was a Friday in early October 2010, he attended a semi-regular luncheon meeting with the judges from the New Britain courthouse. Judge Brunetti took notice that Judge Hadden, who is not regularly assigned to the New Britain court, was also at the meeting. Judge Brunetti inquired why Judge Hadden was present and was told that Judge Hadden was acting as a grand juror there. Judge Brunetti stated that approximately one week after the judges' luncheon he received another call at his home from Richter who again inquired about the existence of a Badaracco grand jury. Judge Brunetti told Richter that there was indeed a grand jury taking place at the New Britain court. Judge Brunetti later indicated that Richter seemed to already know of the grand jury's existence when he called on this date. Judge Brunetti explained to Richter what a grand jury was and generally how the process works.

13) Judge Brunetti further stated that on November 17, 2010, he was at his home preparing to go to work when, at approximately 7:40 AM, he received a telephone call from Dominic Badaracco. The judge indicated that his upstairs telephone doesn't work very well and it was apparent that Badaracco couldn't hear what the judge was saying so he terminated the call. The judge initially stated that he called the number back but later recalled that it was Badaracco that called him back. When Badaracco called him back he noted that Badaracco was calling on Richter's cell phone. After connecting, Dominic Badaracco told the judge that numerous subpoenas had been issued and multiple witnesses were going to testify at the grand jury in New Britain on Friday, November 19, 2010. (Subsequent investigation revealed that the grand jury did, in fact, meet on November 19.) Badaracco asked Judge Brunetti if he could provide him any "help." Judge Brunetti told Badaracco that he could not. Judge Brunetti stated that Dominic Badaracco then said, "I'm only gonna say this one time... it's worth a hundred G's." Judge Brunetti reported that Dominic Badaracco's statement left him speechless and he simply hung up the phone. When asked what he thought the mention of money meant, he stated, "I understood that it was about the Badaracco murder and he was asking me to have some sort of influence over the outcome of the grand jury... like sweep it under the rug." In turn, Judge Brunetti would receive compensation for the "help."

14) Judge Brunetti scheduled a meeting with Judge Carroll, the Deputy Chief Court Administrator, the next day in order to report what had occurred. Before he met with Judge Carroll, Judge Brunetti realized that he had received a voice mail on his cell phone. The message had come from Ronald Richter's cell phone. The voice mail message, which Judge Brunetti recognized as being from Ronald Richter, stated, "Hey, it's me. Give me a call on my cell phone when you get a chance. You got the number - 203-241-0254. See ya, Brunetti... bye." Judge Brunetti opted not to call Richter at that time.

15) Judge Brunetti did, in fact, meet with Judge Carroll and reported the call that he had received from Badaracco. Judge Carroll advised him to report the matter to Chief State's Attorney Kevin Kane.

16) On December 2, 2010, Inspectors Hughes and St. Jacques and Detective Mudry met with Judge Brunetti in Litchfield, Connecticut at a prearranged location. The purpose of this meeting was to monitor a telephone call from Judge Brunetti's cell phone to Ronald Richter's cell phone 203-241-0254, during which Judge Brunetti was to indicate that he may be able to provide assistance to Dominic Badaracco in regards to the ongoing grand jury investigation. Approximately 7:37 a.m., Inspector Hughes, with the consent of Judge Brunetti, activated a digital recorder. Judge Brunetti placed the call while utilizing the speaker option on his cell phone. It was soon determined that Dominic Badaracco Sr. was with Richter at the time, and Judge Brunetti was able to speak with both men. The conversation lasted approximately three and a half minutes. The following is a transcript of the telephone call with the letters (RR) representing Ronald Richter, (RB) representing Robert Brunetti, and (DB) representing Dominic Badaracco:

17) On December 3, 2010, at 7:00 AM, Inspectors Hughes and St. Jacques and Detectives Insalaco and Mudry met Judge Brunetti in Southbury, Connecticut. The purpose was to equip Judge Brunetti, with his consent, with two digital recording devices on his person. With the recording devices activated, Judge Brunetti proceeded to the agreed upon location to meet with Dominic Badaracco, as scheduled on December 2, 2010. It was later learned that while Judge Brunetti was en route to meet Badaracco he (Judge Brunetti) received a telephone call from Ronald Richter. Richter called Judge Brunetti on his cell phone from telephone facility 203-241-0254 at approximately 7:25 AM. During the conversation between Richter and Judge Brunetti, Richter stated that Badaracco could not meet with Judge Brunetti because his grandson was "stuck" in Hartford. As a result the meeting never took place.

18) On June 17, 2011, members of the Connecticut State Police/Western District Major Crime Squad and Inspectors from the Division of Criminal Justice/ Office of the Chief State's Attorney went to 25 Wakeman Hill Road, Sherman, Connecticut for the purpose of executing a Superior Court Search and Seizure warrant. As a result of the search, detectives seized, among other things, $37,437 in US Currency and documents from Webster Bank in the name of Dominic Badaracco which depict financial transactions. The items seized were marked as evidence and are secured with the Connecticut State Police.

19) On June 27, 2011, an Investigatory Grand Jury Subpoena was issued at Webster Bank, New Britain, Connecticut, for any and all records for IRA account numbers 0000138210****, 0001010416****, 0001010416****, accounts believed to belong to or be associated with Dominic Badaracco, from June 1, 2010 thru June 24, 2011, to include but not be limited to, signature cards, retirement account deposit and withdraw slips, checks, canceled checks, contract agreements, teller checks, teller tapes, cashier checks, money orders, roll over certifications, certificate of deposits, and statements.

20) On or about July 6, 2011, the affiant Hughes received documents from Webster Bank pursuant to the subpoena issued as outlined in paragraph number 19. Upon further examination, an IRA Withdrawal Statement was reviewed regarding investment number 0000138210****<sup>1</sup>, an IRA in the name of Dominic Badaracco. This document revealed that on November 15, 2010, Dominic Badaracco closed this IRA account and received a bank check in the amount of $127,411.37. In closing the account, Badaracco paid a penalty or fees of $839.20. The check was deposited into an account held by Badaracco's then wife, Joan Badaracco, where it appears to have been held until December 10, 2010, when it was remitted to Dominic Badaracco upon his execution of an IRA Rollover Certification.

21) Affiants Hughes and Mudry thus have determined that Dominic Badaracco obtained monies in excess of $100,000.00 just two days before he reportedly offered Judge Brunetti $100,000 in exchange for his influence over the outcome of the Grand Jury investigation.

22) Affiant Hughes, after reviewing telephone records for the month of September 2010, of both Richter and Judge Brunetti, found no calls between the two in that month.

23) Telephone records do show that on October 6, 2010, a call was placed from the Judge's cell to Richter's business phone. That call lasted approximately two minutes. The next call recorded between the two was from Richter to Judge Brunetti's home phone at about 7:33 AM on October 22, 2010. There was a grand jury session

The second conversation appears to have lasted almost five minutes. The records also show communication on October 29, 2010, between Richter's business telephone and Judge Brunetti's home for 24 seconds. Additionally, on the morning of October 29, which was a Friday, Judge Brunetti called Richter's cell at 8:17 AM, for approximately two minutes.

24) Affiant Hughes spoke with Judge Brunetti regarding his first contact with Richter regarding the grand jury. Judge Brunetti stated that while he thought he was first contacted by Richter about the grand jury in September, the phone records would in fact show when the calls were made.

25) Phone records also show that at 7:39 AM on November 17, 2010, a call was placed from Richter's cell phone to Judge Brunetti's home. That call lasted only thirty-one seconds. At 7:41 AM, a second call was placed from Richter's cell phone to the Judge's home. That call lasted sixty-four seconds.

26) Wherefore, based upon the facts and circumstances as outlined in this affidavit, the affiants have probable cause to believe that Dominic Badaracco Sr., date of birth 4/14/36, committed the crime of Bribery, in violation of Connecticut General Statutes 53a-147 and did criminally violate the state code of ethics, specifically section 1-84(f) of the Connecticut General Statutes, and respectfully request the issuance of an arrest warrant.
